

INERTIA CRYPTO 30 ETI

2024

Investment Objective

Inertia Crypto 30 ETI is designed to replicate the performance of a benchmark index composed of 30 carefully selected cryptocurrencies, providing systematic and diversified exposure to the dynamic cryptocurrency market.

The strategy employs a disciplined approach to ensure alignment with the benchmark index while adapting to the evolving market environment. Cryptocurrencies are selected based on rigorous criteria to guarantee quality, stability, and compliance with market standards. These criteria include:

- Market Capitalization: Only cryptocurrencies with significant market capitalization are included, ensuring liquidity and market resilience.
- Token Eligibility: Selected assets meet established token standards, adhering to industry norms.
- Maturity: Assets must have been in circulation for a minimum of 90 days, ensuring a reliable track record and stability.

Using advanced quantitative methodologies, the portfolio employs a daily rebalancing process to maintain alignment with the benchmark index and adjust dynamically to market conditions. This ensures the portfolio reflects the latest developments in the cryptocurrency market while effectively managing risk. The strategy emphasizes broad diversification to minimize exposure to individual asset risks while maximizing potential returns. By maintaining a disciplined and structured methodology, Inertia Crypto 30 ETI aims to deliver consistent performance, leveraging market trends while reducing volatility through strategic asset allocation.

Key Features

- Provides the opportunity to enhance returns through a single, straightforward trade that leverages alternative investment strategies.
- Exchange traded simple to trade highly liquid asset, supported by market makers (MMs). Losses are limited to the initial invested amount.
- Available to both retail and institutional investors.
- Independent assets managed by industry experts. The value of the ETI is linked to the performance of a segregated portfolio overseen by these experts.

Key Risks

- Investing in ETIs is appropriate only for investors who have a comprehensive understanding of the product's complexity and the underlying strategy.
- Investors should be aware that they may lose the full value of their investment; however, losses are limited to the invested amount.
- ETIs may lack a secondary market, which could make transferring them challenging. Additionally, redemption rights may be suspended if the redemption of the underlying securities is halted.
- ETI holders do not possess ownership or rights in the underlying securities. This includes no direct claims to dividends or distributions. Any issues or defaults by the issuers of the underlying securities will directly impact ETI holders, who will have no recourse.

Prospectus

A base prospectus has been approved by the Financial Market Authority Liechtenstein (FMA) as the competent authority under Regulation (EU) No. 2017/1129 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 14 June 2017 on the prospectus to be published when securities are offered to the public or admitted to trading on a regulated market, which has been incorporated into Liechtenstein law through the EEA Agreement regarding the offer and listing of ETIs in Liechtenstein (the "Liechtenstein Prospectus"). The "Relevant Prospectus" means the EU Prospectus or the Liechtenstein Prospectus, as applicable.

The Financial Market Authority has delivered to the regulators listed below certificates of approval attesting that the EU Prospectus has been drawn up in accordance with Article 25 of Regulation (EU) 2017/1129.

The EU Prospectus (and any supplements thereto) of the Issuer has been passported from Liechtenstein to Germany (Bundesanstalt für Finanzdienstleistungsaufsicht) and Spain (Comisión Nacional del Mercado de Valores).

Investors should read the Relevant Prospectus of the Issuer before investing and should refer to the section of the Relevant Prospectus entitled 'Risk Factors' for further details of risks associated with an investment in this product.

Risk Warnings

The value of an investment in ETI Securities may fluctuate, and past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. An investment in ETI Securities is contingent upon the performance of the underlying security. ETI Securities entail specific risks that potential investors should thoroughly understand prior to making an investment decision.

Securities issued by the Issuer represent products that involve a substantial degree of risk and may not be suitable for all investors. Any decision to invest should be based on the information contained in the relevant prospectus of the Issuer (or any supplements thereto), which includes detailed disclosures on the risks associated with such an investment. The price of these securities may rise or fall, and investors may not recover the full amount of their initial investment. Securities are denominated in US Dollars, Euros, or Pounds, and the value of investments in other currencies may be impacted by exchange rate fluctuations.

Investors should be aware that ETI Securities are not principal-protected, meaning that a total loss of capital is possible if the underlying asset decreases significantly in value. It is essential to conduct independent research and analysis to understand the nature and extent of the investment risks.

Furthermore, prospective investors should consider their financial circumstances, risk tolerance, and investment objectives before making any investment decisions. For more detailed information regarding the risks associated with ETI Securities, please refer to the "Risk Factors" section in the relevant prospectus. It is advisable to consult an independent financial advisor prior to making any investment in ETI Securities, especially considering the specific regulatory context of the Liechtenstein program.

No offer for sale

The information contained in this financial promotion is neither an offer for sale nor a solicitation of an offer to buy securities. This financial promotion should not be used as the basis for any investment decision.
