

Smart Tech Vision ETI

2025

Investment Objective

Smart Tech Vision ETI targets to achieve an annual net fixed return of 6% by offering exposition to the underlying returns arising from acquisitions of credit rights from loans originated and secured by real estate collateral in North America, focused in Mexico. Smart Tech Vision ETI offers a compelling investment solution designed to deliver fixed returns while minimizing volatility, ensuring alignment with the expectations of risk-conscious investors.

The underlying investment strategy capitalizes on opportunities to acquire credit rights at a discount from loan originators seeking liquidity. These credit rights, secured by real estate collateral, form a diversified portfolio that balances risk and reward. The ETI benefits from the returns arising from the repayment of the underlying loans, including principal and interest, while maintaining strict adherence to predefined eligibility criteria for both credit rights and collateral properties.

The ETI offers exposure to the dynamics of Mexico's credit market within North America, where high-interest loans and collateralized structures present a unique opportunity for investors. By focusing on credit rights secured by real estate collateral, the ETI aims to ensure stability and predictability in returns while minimizing the risk-return ratio.

Key Features

- Provides the opportunity to enhance returns through a single, straightforward trade that leverages alternative investment strategies.
- Exchange traded simple to trade highly liquid asset, supported by market makers (MMs). Losses are limited to the initial invested amount.
- Available to both retail and institutional investors.
- Independent assets managed by industry experts. The value of the ETI is linked to the performance of a segregated portfolio overseen by these experts.

Key Risks

- Investing in ETIs is appropriate only for investors who have a comprehensive understanding of the product's complexity and the underlying strategy.
- Investors should be aware that they may lose the full value of their investment; however, losses are limited to the invested amount.
- ETIs may lack a secondary market, which could make transferring them challenging. Additionally, redemption rights may be suspended if the redemption of the underlying securities is halted.
- ETI holders do not possess ownership or rights in the underlying securities. This includes no direct claims to dividends or distributions. Any issues or defaults by the issuers of the underlying securities will directly impact ETI holders, who will have no recourse.

Risk and Reward Profile

Investors should refer to the Prospectus (www.altariuseti.com) for a more complete description of the product, services providers and relevant regulatory factors.

Prospectus

A base prospectus has been approved by the Financial Market Authority Liechtenstein (FMA) as the competent authority under Regulation (EU) No. 2017/1129 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 14 June 2017 on the prospectus to be published when securities are offered to the public or admitted to trading on a regulated market, which has been incorporated into Liechtenstein law through the EEA Agreement regarding the offer and listing of ETIs in Liechtenstein (the "Liechtenstein Prospectus"). The "Relevant Prospectus" means the EU Prospectus or the Liechtenstein Prospectus, as applicable.

The Financial Market Authority has delivered to the regulators listed below certificates of approval attesting that the EU Prospectus has been drawn up in accordance with Article 25 of Regulation (EU) 2017/1129.

The EU Prospectus (and any supplements thereto) of the Issuer has been passported from Liechtenstein to Germany (Bundesanstalt für Finanzdienstleistungsaufsicht) and Spain (Comisión Nacional del Mercado de Valores).

Investors should read the Relevant Prospectus of the Issuer before investing and should refer to the section of the Relevant Prospectus entitled 'Risk Factors' for further details of risks associated with an investment in this product.

Risk Warnings

The value of an investment in ETI Securities may fluctuate, and past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. An investment in ETI Securities is contingent upon the performance of the underlying security. ETI Securities entail specific risks that potential investors should thoroughly understand prior to making an investment decision.

Securities issued by the Issuer represent products that involve a substantial degree of risk and may not be suitable for all investors. Any decision to invest should be based on the information contained in the relevant prospectus of the Issuer (or any supplements thereto), which includes detailed disclosures on the risks associated with such an investment. The price of these securities may rise or fall, and investors may not recover the full amount of their initial investment. Securities are denominated in US Dollars, Euros, or Pounds, and the value of investments in other currencies may be impacted by exchange rate fluctuations.

Investors should be aware that ETI Securities are not principal-protected, meaning that a total loss of capital is possible if the underlying asset decreases significantly in value. It is essential to conduct independent research and analysis to understand the nature and extent of the investment risks.

Furthermore, prospective investors should consider their financial circumstances, risk tolerance, and investment objectives before making any investment decisions. For more detailed information regarding the risks associated with ETI Securities, please refer to the "Risk Factors" section in the relevant prospectus. It is advisable to consult an independent financial advisor prior to making any investment in ETI Securities, especially considering the specific regulatory context of the Liechtenstein program.
